FASHIONABLY LATE

Ames High SPIRIT
2015-2016

INTRODUCTION

Every day, dozens of students arrive at Ames High after class has begun. Many of these same students, and countless others, take much pride in their appearance, always staying up-to-date on the latest fashion trends. With these characteristics in mind, what better way to encompass the essence of Ames High than the phrase "Fashionably Late"? We held a photo shoot during Plus Period to capture students' styles, which is showcased on our division pages. We also incorporated page tabs and boxes that look like sticky notes to create a planner-like theme.

Europe Trip

Over the summer, several Ames High seniors traveled to Europe for their AP European History class. The students traveled to several places in Europe, including Rome and Paris. On the first day in Paris the students visited the famous Louvre museum where they were able to see all sorts of artwork they had learned about in class. "We were very excited to see the art we studied all year," senior Molly Bagnall said. Senior Jill Zmolek agreed, saying "Paris was my favorite part of the trip and it became a game to see how many times I cried because it was so beautiful." While in Rome, the students were able to spend the last hours of the trip at the beach. The students were tired and uncomfortable but still cherished their last few hours of the trip. "We had been at the beach all day and everyone was dead tired. Senior Wren Kress had the worst sunburn of her life, and I was slightly sick and had to pee, but those things didn't matter because we were all relishing our last hours of being in Europe with the people we experienced it all with," Bagnall said. Students interested in the trip need only wait two more years before they can experience it as well and join in the fun.

German Trip

A group of Ames High Students traveled to Germany at the beginning of the summer. The students lived in a German home and attended four days at a German school, completely immersing themselves in the language and culture. Importantly, students were also able to do a little bit of sightseeing. The students visited several places including Cologne and Berlin. In the photo on the right, several students who traveled on the trip pose with their new German friends.

Uganda Trip

In late June and early July, twenty Ames High students traveled to Uganda to help build a school in the rural village, Papakol. The students were able to interact and learn from the locals there.

Students were also able to experience what it is like to be a minority and were often called "Mzungus," the locals' name for "white people" which literally translates as "people who walk in circles." This was a unique experience for the students.

"[Being in Uganda] gave us an opportunity to understand what it feels like to be a minority, even if we were treated in a generally more positive way than we think of minorities being treated in our own country," senior Macy Vollbrecht said.

The trip also taught students about other cultures. "Sometimes we are guilty of forgetting that other cultures are complex, just like ours. There is so much I learned from their culture that our American culture has left behind for technology and other advancements," Vollbrecht said.

New Orleans Mission Trip

A group of Ames High Students traveled to New Orleans with Christ Community Church. The students helped at a summer camp where they were able to give young children the attention that is missing in many of these kids' lives.

Summer Haze

Summer provides students the opportunity to get away from Ames and experience new things. This year's students did everything from hanging out with friends, going to Hickory Park, to taking trips around the world. "I go to Puerto Rico every other summer to visit family. I spend a few months there and then fly back to the states. This year I had my best friend there with me which made the trip even better," sophomore Nikki Aroche said. More than anything, summer is a chance to relax and recover from another stressful school year.

Band Camp

Each year, all of the marching band members meet for five days in August to learn and review marching techniques. Band Camp helps the students get a head start on preparing the pregame and halftime shows for the upcoming season. Each day, students spend an hour marching and an hour learning the music for the upcoming season, which included Escazu, Mask of Zorro, and The Best of Times this year. Additional meetings and practices are held for drumline, squad leaders, and librarians throughout the week to make sure everything runs smoothly.

Seniors Dagny Paskach and Emily Rehmunn

What's the laziest thing you've done this summer?

As the final bell of the school year of 2015 rang, students flew out the doors of Ames High to begin their summer adventures. While some traveled the world, others stayed in town, hanging out with friends. When asked what the laziest things that they did this summer most students gave the generic answer of sleeping in and Netflix, but some had more interesting answers.

FALL FASHION FINDS

Senior Maddie Kouba showcases her favorite style for chilly fall days. A popular trend this season is the olive green army jacket layered over a colorful shirt. The pairing is excellent for the fluctuating autumn temperatures that can swing from a toasty 70 degrees to a chilly 55 degrees in one swoop. Maddie pairs her army jacket with black skinny jeans and black high top Converse shoes.

Junior Taylor Junck stays toasty warm as the cooler months approach, layering a blue denim button up shirt with a lightweight white sweater. Long, gold necklaces with a single pendant were popular this season as Taylor aptly models. She completes her outfit with black jeans.

Senior Francesca Spencer keeps it cool in a lightweight plaid button up over a white tank paired with dark wash skinny jeans. Her look is perfect for a fall school day and can easily be dressed up or down to fit her mood. Plaid button up shirts in various weights became a staple for fall wardrobes.

Junior Julia Hansen knows how to balance function and fashion in this cute fall outfit. She paired her denim shirt and black jeans with the popular accessory of a "blanket scarf." This huge trend can be styled many different ways and is perfect to transition into the cooler months.

AUGUST 24 - AUGUST 30

The new school year brings many "firsts," from freshmen walking through the double doors on their first day, to seniors taking their first lunch break of their final year. Athletes take the track, field and pool to begin their first season, and everyone is generally busy and more than a little overwhelmed.

Golf

Swinging into the 2015 golf season, the Little Cyclones are tearing up the greens this season. Golf is a game of skill, but the golfers also look forward to having fun on and off the course throughout the season. While last year's graduating seniors were a tough loss, it also meant new opportunities for underclassmen. "It was an awesome season, especially with me making the varsity team. It was a great experience for my first year of high school golf. I had a great time getting to know all the guys, and I can't wait till next year's season," freshman Sam Balsley said. Golf is not much of a spectator sport, so one has to respect how the team goes after it with little to no public recognition.

Team Tailgate

As football season starts to roll around, students begin to get more and more excited. A big part of football games is the loud and encouraging student section. Having a different theme every game, the student section has never failed to cheer on the team be it to victory or defeat. Cheering on the Little Cyclones, the student section sets the tone for the game. Before each game, Team Tailgate sets up camp in the back lot of the Ames High parking lot. "Team Tailgate has been a really fun group to be a part of. As one of the leaders, we get to advertise all the activities that go on at Ames High and encourage others to support them! I've had an absolute blast (with Team Tailgate). I hope it continues once this group leaves and encourages more people to come because all are really welcome," senior Maddie Kouba said. Team Tailgate brings excitement for many of the students sitting in the stands.

SEPTEMBER 7 - SEPTEMBER 13

On the eve of the annual Cy-Hawk Showdown, the Ames football team hosted Iowa City High. Although the game ended in a 26-10 loss, many students thought the Little Cy-Hawk showdown was a great new tradition. "It's cool how we started a tradition, and got Ames High involved in something that Iowa State does," senior Justin Schoppe said. Friday was filled with events including Channel 13's RV TV visiting Ames High for a pep assembly and broadcasting news from the Ames High football field. The Iowa State marching band joined the Ames High Marching Band to march around the track during pregame, and then perform their halftime show. During the game the Little Cyclones also revealed their new 9/11 themed mirrored helmets. "The helmets were really cool," senior Justin Schoppe said.

Graphic Design Club

On Friday, Student Council hosted their annual club fair. One new club that presented at the club fair was Graphic Design Club. GDC is a group of students who help design posters and advertisements for the many Ames High clubs and sports teams. The club is fairly large, considering it's brand new this year. "We have about 15 students," said senior Wren Kress, who is pictured at the right. Her work, along with the work of other GDC members, is displayed around Ames High and the community as promotion for various events and activities.

Volleyball

Volleyball requires skill, teamwork, and heart. This year's squad was excited to build a winning tradition. This week the Heartland Classic cross country meet occurred at the Iowa State Cross Country Course. There were many different teams from all over the country that came to this meet. There were hundreds of runners in all four of the races. Despite having a lot of competition both the boys and the girls in both the JV and the varsity competitions ran very well. This meet was a good way for the runners to show off all the hard work they had put in so far in the season.

Homecoming

Homecoming week is a love letter of sorts to Ames High. Six days full of festivities offer something for everyone. Theme dress-up days show unity in the student body, as students show up to class in their most ridiculous garb. Student sections at all of the athletic events are packed to capacity with enthusiastic teenagers, ready to watch their peers give it their all. For one week, students come together to celebrate everything Ames High has to offer, to honor the seniors who have been a friendly face in the halls, and to fuel the passionate fire of #AmesHighPride.

On Friday, SHEPH held a documentary night to watch Girl Rising. The documentary was shown to raise awareness about the treatment of girls in underdeveloped countries. Each girl told her story and the obstacles she faced. Issues including rape, lack of education, slavery, and human trafficking were shown in the documentary. "I found it really inspiring. . . . Personally, I am really interested in these problems. . . . However, it just makes it all seem so much more important and real when you hear the story from the point of view of [someone similar in age to me]," sophomore Natalie Cross said. ## Cross Country

This week the CIML Central Conference Cross Country meet was held at the Iowa State Cross Country Course. Both the boys and the girls cross country teams ran at this meet. For many runners this was their last meet of the season, and for many seniors the last meet of their lives. Ames Cross Country teams for both the boys and the girls were a tight-knit group and this was the last time that everyone would run together. "I'm going to miss all of my teammates next year," senior Jessica Rehmann said. Overall, at this meet Ames had a lot of success. Both varsity teams placed sixth.

SHOWCASING TAKES THE LEAD

Change Drive

Every year Ames High hosts a coin drive to support the Iowa Children's Hospital. Students donate change in their English classes, and the class that collects the most change wins a pizza party. This year Mrs. Seibert's class won for the second year in a row by collecting an astonishing amount of $1,919.92. All together, over $3,354 was raised for this worthy charity. "Everyone refers to this age as Generation Me, but we get to see firsthand everyday how generous and selfless our students can be. It's one thing to talk about change, but it's another to go out and be that change. I'm proud of these guys!" teacher James Webb said. There are plans to continue this change drive annually.

Marching Band Spectacular

The Marching Band Spectacular is held every year to showcase the amazing music that the Band has prepared for that year. This year's show was highlighted by the songs "Mr. Roboto" and the "Mask of Zorro." The event is a great way to celebrate the countless hours Marching Band has invested. The Marching Band Spectacular is also a good way for the drum majors to thank everyone for the support that the band has received.

Live Simply Week

This week SHEPH, Students Helping to Eliminate Poverty and Hunger, hosted Live Simply Week. Different events took place in order to raise money for their yearly project to help those in need. On Monday, the rice and beans lunch occurred. In addition, SHEPH students fasted for 24 hours to experience what it was like to be hungry. Various community members and friends sponsored students in this endeavor. The week came to a close on Thursday at a tropical-themed Tucheze, SHEPH's annual and ever-popular informal dance. In total, SHEPH raised nearly $3,500.

State Swimming

On Friday and Saturday, the Ames Girls Swimming and Diving team competed at the State Meet. This meet is a way for the swimmers and divers to show off the hard work they have put in during the three months of the season preceding the meet. Ames came home with their fifth state title in the last six years. Ames dominated the meet from the get-go. Freshman Jayna Misra started the meet off earning second in the diving portion of the meet. On Saturday the swimmers followed with a dominating performance winning four events. Ames earned the gold in the 200 medley relay, 200 freestyle relay, 400 freestyle relay, and sophomore Sophie Sorenson took home the 100 backstroke title. Ames brought a large student section that helped to motivate the competing swimmers. "This year we were very fortunate to have one of the best student sections. The people in the stands are a huge motivator," junior Sabrina Hegelheimer said. Even with the large crowd and the months of preparation the athletes were not without some nerves. ## Senior Spotlight

Senior Joey Bingham has made a lot of contributions to the Ames High drama department. With eight years of acting experience, and spending much of his free time working at the city auditorium, his knowledge of drama has grown, and shown, throughout the 17 productions in which he has participated. Joey's first production was The Princess and the Pea, and his role was the Prince, but the only reason he tried out was for a joke. This then led to one of his favorite hobbies and passions, though. Joey has participated in every single production at Ames High since his freshman year. His favorite role to perform was Nikki Bottom, from Midsummers' Jersey. The role he's most proud of is playing Sherlock in Ames High's most recent show, The Hound of Baskervilles. Throughout his four years at Ames High, his favorite memory is when he received his National Honors Thespian award, which is a great honor. Those are some big shoes to fill; Ames High is really going to miss having Joey in the drama department!

Art Field Trip

This week the Ceramics and Advanced Photography students visited the Ciccotti Glass Studio and McClanahan Studio. At Ciccotti, each student tried the new experience of glass blowing. For most students, it was their first time trying this medium. "It was really fun to be able to create a beautiful piece of glass with your own hands," junior William Crow said. William extended on the fact that this was a fun opportunity and that everyone should try at some point in their life. Students also visited McClanahan Studio, where they visited with Dan and Alex McClanahan about how they started their business and their favorite Photoshop techniques.

THE START OF A NEW SEASON

Iowa All-State Music Festival

The All-State Music Festival was hosted in Ames this weekend. Over 1,000 of Iowa's best high school musicians gathered on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday for rehearsals and a concert. Students in the band and orchestra auditioned for chair placement in their ensembles on Thursday, while select choir members tried out for solos. Friday was full of rehearsals, and Saturday consisted of rehearsals, photos, and a concert that night. All-State is an awesome experience for musicians to grow in their abilities and make friends with other students from across the state who are as passionate about music as they are.

1. Freshman Julie-Michelle Manohar sings with the Choir. She was one of four Ames singers selected this year. 2. Juniors Ana DiSpirito and Neta Friedberg, sophomore Benjamin Moats, and seniors Emily Rehmann and Dagney Paskach play "Aurora Awakes" with the Band. 3. Freshman Grace Kim and senior Fox Henson play "Pines of Rome" on their cellos. 4. Sophomore Nathan Paskach plays his trumpet with the Orchestra. ## Madrigal

This year's Madrigal Dinners were a huge success. After months of practice, the Madrigal cast put on a fabulous show. The dinners are set up like a Medieval feast, complete with the royal court singers, a jester, string and brass musicians, and players. Each course of the meal is presented with a special song, followed by entertainment from the various musicians and actors that make up the Madrigal performance.

Another highlight for the singers is the caroling they did in the weeks prior to and following the Madrigal Dinners. "Everyone would always seem so excited when we would walk in their place of business in our costumes and start singing," senior and first-year singer Angela Tucker said. They caroled at local businesses such as Wal-Mart, Cafe Diem, and Dutch Oven Bakery to spread holiday cheer and their love of music.

Every year Ames sends its 2 jazz bands to compete at the SCIBA Jazz Festival, which is held at Waukee. This year Jazz 1 placed 7th place in 4A while Jazz 2 placed 2nd in the second band category. A number of students also received individual awards for their outstanding solos. The students spend the day performing, participating in clinics, and listening to other bands. "Because we placed so high last year, we were actually able to sleep in this year, which meant listening to fewer bands. It was great!" senior Braeden Weyhrich said.

DECEMBER 14 - DECEMBER 20

Sophomore Garrett Cooper has been in band since 5th grade. Right now he plays percussion in marching band, pep band, and regular band. "I like pep band because you get to do and play things you wouldn't get to do or play in normal band. You get to have fun at the basketball games, and have a good time just playing awesome music," Cooper said.

"Marching band is one of the best parts of being in band. You get to play in front of a big crowd and have the experience of being in an awesome group. Normal band is great if you like to play music. you get lots of opportunities to do extra stuff and get to play amazing music with one of the best bands in the state," Cooper continued.

In the picture on the right, Cooper is joined by other members of Percussion Techniques. At every concert, the group plays one piece on "real" instruments and one on "improvised" ones, in this case 10 gallon buckets.

WINTER FASHION FINDS

Sophomore Isabel Ingram knows the secret to staying warm in Ames winters is a few warm layers. Her red statement peacoat is sure to turn heads and chase away those winter blues. Isabel completes the look with a white mock turtleneck and high waisted dark wash jeans, perfect for any outfit.

Junior Rachel Junck uses the fall staple of an olive green army jacket to transition into the colder winter months over a simple, dark t shirt paired with dark wash jeans. The look is excellent for warmer winter days before the ice and snow strikes in full force.

Sophomore Sam Stuve shows his Ames High pride in an Ames football sweatshirt and warm gray sweatpants. Sometimes, simplicity is the key to winter fashion, as Sam shows with this look.

Junior Elizabeth Jackson utilizes a cozy navy flannel shirt to stay warm this winter. Popularized at Ames High by "flannel Fridays," Elizabeth follows the trend beautifully. She keeps the look classic with a darker wash denim jean.

WINTER BREAK

Citrus Bowl

During winter break, several members of the Ames High Drill Team traveled to Orlando, Florida to perform at the Buffalo Wild Wings Citrus Bowl. While in Florida they were able to participate in a variety of activities including visiting Daytona Beach, Disney World, and Sea World. The team spent much of their time on the trip practicing for their halftime performance at the bowl game. These Ames High dancers performed alongside 500 other dancers from all over the country. It was a great experience for the entire team. "My favorite part of the trip overall really was just getting to bond with my team," senior Alissa Watters said. While their reason varied, all agreed it was a memory they'll cherish.

Around 15 members of National Honor Society spent the morning and afternoon of December 22 spreading holiday cheer at local nursing homes. A group of about 10 students shared their vocal and instrumental talents with elderly Ames residents in the afternoon, while 5 students came in the morning where they played their instruments to the elderly residents. It was a great experience for many of the students to see a smile on the face of the nursing home inhabitants. "It was nice to see that you are never too young or too old to celebrate the holidays," senior Serena Qamhie said.

Star Wars: The Force Awakens

Over Winter Break, many Ames High students went to the new Stars Wars movie entitled Star Wars: The Force Awakens. The movie was an instant hit and quickly became the highest grossing domestic film of all time. As sophomore Sylvia Hollander explains, "[My friend] went and saw the movie four times and it totally lived up to all of the hype." The film captures the magic of the original trilogy and launched a whole new generation of fans.

Senior Spotlight

Ames Basketball is an event at Ames High that students come together and cheer on their teammates. They sit on the sidelines and support their fellow students. We asked Seniors Joey Stohlmeyer and Emily Frisk a little bit about themselves to get to know them better.

Senior Emily Frisk

Emily started playing basketball around the age of 6 by getting involved with Parks and Recreation, Upward, Attack, AAU, and Ames Basketball Club. She loved it. Her favorite memories from the past four years have been team bonding activities such as team dinners and the weekend in Iowa City every year. Some advice she would give incoming basketball players is, "Don't be scared; be yourself. Don't be afraid to make mistakes because you will get better. Don't be afraid of the seniors if they are bossy because they don't mean it in a bad way, they are just trying to be good leaders." When asked what basketball has taught her she said, "Definitely how to be on a team because it takes a lot of communication. Everyone has to be on the same page. It has taught me about communication and how to be both a vocal and physical leader." When asked what it feels like when she is on the court playing she said, "the whole experience, with the National Anthem and standing there with your team, is energetic. When tip off comes, you're a little nervous but also excited. It's the best feeling."

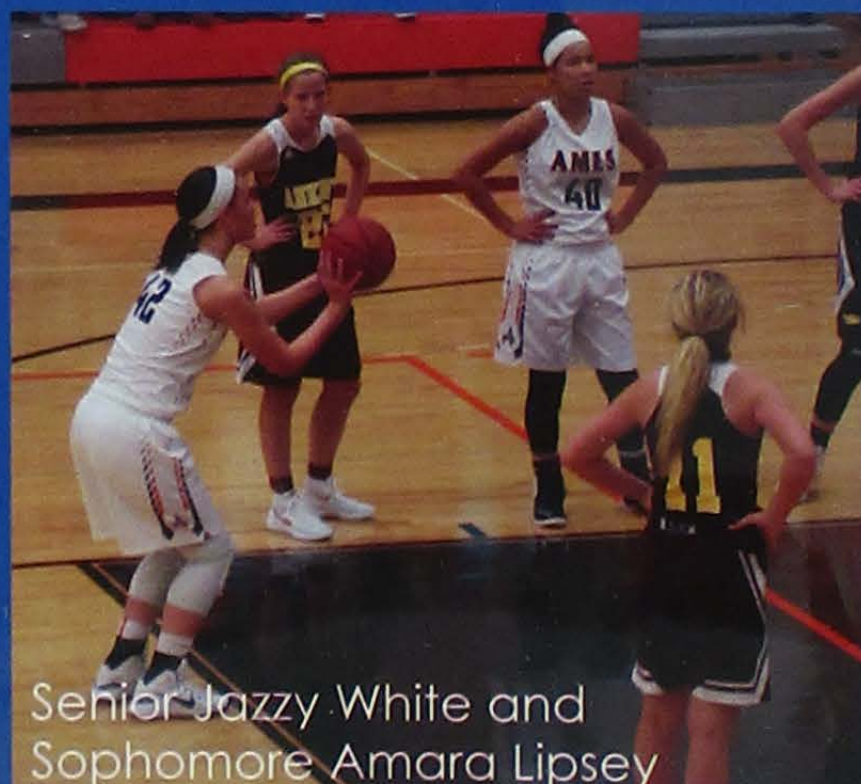

Joey started Basketball when he was in third grade. He was involved in Attack and Kingdom Hoops. He got involved with basketball because his dad got him into it and he thought he had the most fun with basketball rather than another sport. When asked what his favorite memories were over the past four years he said, "During sophomore year Baje and I had this connection that whenever one of us would pass to the other we would always make a shot." Some advice he would give to anyone going out for the team is "Play basketball because you like in, not because you have to. It's more fun when you're having a good time. It doesn't last for forever, so enjoy it." Something basketball has taught Joey is that "it's not always about me, it's about the team." When asked what it feels like when he is on the court Joey answered, "the feeling of just playing with your brothers and playing for them not for yourself is a really good feeling."

The wrestling team had its senior night this week against Mason City. It was an exciting event with some ups and downs, but Ames pulled out a hard fought victory, 40-30. Marcus Coleman stole some of the headlines, though, by earning his 100th varsity pin, just 31 seconds into his match. Coleman, a state champion last year, moved up to the 170 pound class this year, and he is just as successful at this new weight. The team is more than just one person, though, and coach Fecht expects a strong showing again this year at the state tournament.

POINT GUARDS AND PLUS PERIOD

Survey Question: Is Plus Period really a Plus for students?

Week by Week

"Definitely a plus!"
- Freshman Hannah Kruger

"Meh."
- Freshman Braden Woodsmall

"Plus. I guess..."
- Freshman Dylan Schaben

"I'm a fan!"
- Freshman Yara Salti

"I like the access to teachers"
- Sophomore Lisa Cochran

"It's helpful at times."
- Senior Samuel Rietz

"Plus."
- Freshman Hope Morken

"Basically just a study hall."
- Sophomore Sam Stuve

Plus Period

As a new addition to the Ames High schedule, Plus Period serves as a 30 minute time block for students to get extra help on classes that they might be struggling in. Plus Period allows students to have access to their teachers, extension activities, mini lessons, and time to make up your work.

Other than the mad dash to sign up for their preferred classes before they get filled up, and shortening other classes, students find it quite helpful. Plus Period is new to every grade, and we polled non-freshman on how they liked the schedule layout this year compared to last. Ella Glenn seems to like it more: "I use it mostly as a study hall and it helps me get my work done." Most students seem to use it as a study hall, but others actually use it to get help, and some are more active. Many students believe it is actually kind of fun, because if you sign up for the right teacher you could get a fun plus period like basketball with Kautzky. Overall, there was a positive feeling from the students. Although it is not perfect, and it still needs some work, efforts are being made to make it better and more helpful in the future. The majority of students would keep plus periods if they had a choice, especially because they make the classes shorter.

Debate

Members of debate invest countless hours of preparation to prepare for their competitions without getting much recognition. There are two main types of debate, Congress and PF (public forum). Each month members of PF debate are given a topic over which they have to argue both sides. It takes a lot of time and research to gain the knowledge to argue multiple sides of an issue.

Students join debate for a variety of reasons. Some students join to improve their speaking and persuasion skills, while others join to improve their resumes. Debate helps students improve at many skills that are useful outside of debate. "Debate has helped me with everything. It has taught me how to speak, how to look and analyze evidence, how to interact with others, and with persuasion," Senior Serena Qamhie said.

DEFENSE, DEBATE, AND DECISIONS

Week by Week

Student Council

Student Council is a group that meets on Wednesday mornings and makes decisions on how to improve the School. Many students join Student Council for a variety of reasons. Some students, like sophomore Deeksha Sarda, have joined because they thought that Student Council would be a fun experience. Sarda also stated that she joined because "student government always looks so cool on TV." Many students join, though, because they want to make a positive impact at Ames High School by making the decisions that will benefit the students. "I joined Student Council because I wanted to be a part of planning events like Green Week and Winter Madness," sophomore Sara Bergin said.

Mega Bowl

Mega Bowl has become a proud tradition at Ames High. Mega Bowl is where the students fill the student section during the basketball game with the goal of some serious spirit. The entire student section remains dead silent for the first 10 points of the game, but when the 11th point is scored, it's a mad house. The students scream at the top of their lungs, ring cow bells, and generally act as crazy as possible. This year's game was against Mason City, and the boys won convincingly.

Each year the Ames High Drama department produces a winter musical, using a student choreographer and production staff. This year, John Topf created and taught the dances seen in the production Bye Bye Birdie. The cast had to wake up early every morning to learn the dances and music and deemed it the worst part of their existences. The main character, Conrad Birdie, is based on Elvis. Everyone loves him and he is drafted to go to war. His managers, Albert and Rose, have the idea to write a song and run a competition to have Conrad give his biggest fan a kiss on live television before he is sent off to war. Junior Brett Stone enjoyed opening night the most. "I would have to say walking across the stage during 'A Lot of Livin' To Do' on the first night and hearing everyone laughing was incredible," said Stone. Senior Jill Zmolek played the role of Rosie DeLeon and stunned the audience with her incredible singing and dancing, particularly during the number "Spanish Rose."

MAKE SOME NOISE FOR AMES HIGH

District Speech

The Individual District Speech Contest was held at Ames High School this year. Many of the Ames students felt nervous, but the nervousness was unfounded, seeing as more than half of the speech participants made it to state. District Speech was a day of giving speeches, singing songs, acting out scenes and even shushing people in the hallway. Speech Club is a club where students can express who they are, whether it be by giving a speech, writing a poem, acting out a scene, singing a song, or a number of other things. It is a group that loves to show who they are. Along the way, they build lasting relationships and have a ton of fun!

At this band concert four different ensembles play beginning with Percussion Techniques followed by the Freshman Band and the Concert Band and the Symphonic Band concludes the concert. This concert was one of the many times the Symphonic band got to perform some of the songs they were going to play at the upcoming Iowa Bandmasters Association (IBA) concert. These songs included "Hounds of Spring" and "Esprit de Corps". The Symphonic Band also played "Overture to Candide," which junior Beriah Forney said was her favorite song.

These Ames High students ran every meeting and helped the kids learn about simple machines and programming, and even helped them build a Lego model. Neutrino members feel helping kids at the elementary level develops a love for STEM that is vital. "It's important to us to have a program set up for younger kids so that they grow up with a love for STEM instead of trying to develop one later," senior Dagney Paskach said.

SPRING FASHION FINDS

Senior Moe Elsadig broods in this comfortable spring outfit. Guys were into printed shirts this season, which he showcases with a green leaf patterned Hollister shirt paired with gray joggers. Nothing can compare to the upgraded sweatpants that have taken Ames High by storm, known for their outstanding comfort and class.

Sophomore Anna Stevens takes advantage of the increasing temperatures by showing off her toned abs with a black crop top. To add some flair to the look, she is wearing a brightly colored tie dyed maxi skirt.

Freshman Julia Stevens has some serious style that is no laughing matter. She enjoys the warm weather in a one piece romper, layered over a black tank top, paired with high top Converse. Rompers were very popular this season, as they make the classier look of a sundress more functional.

Teacher Mike Todd holds his hand on his hip and Mr. Webb's dying poinsettia in anguish. Mr. Todd shows his disappointment in Mr. Webb's gardening skills in a lightweight button up tucked into dark pants. Who says teachers can't be fashion icons?

SPRING BREAK

Over spring break, the Ames Lacrosse team traveled to Omaha, Nebraska to compete in their first ever tournament.

The team lost their first two games, but they won their third game convincingly, 8-0. Considering it was their first time ever playing, they did great, remaining competitive in all their games, losing their first two games by 1 goal each.

Ames lacrosse has only 3 experienced players, so the rest of the team is completely new to the game.

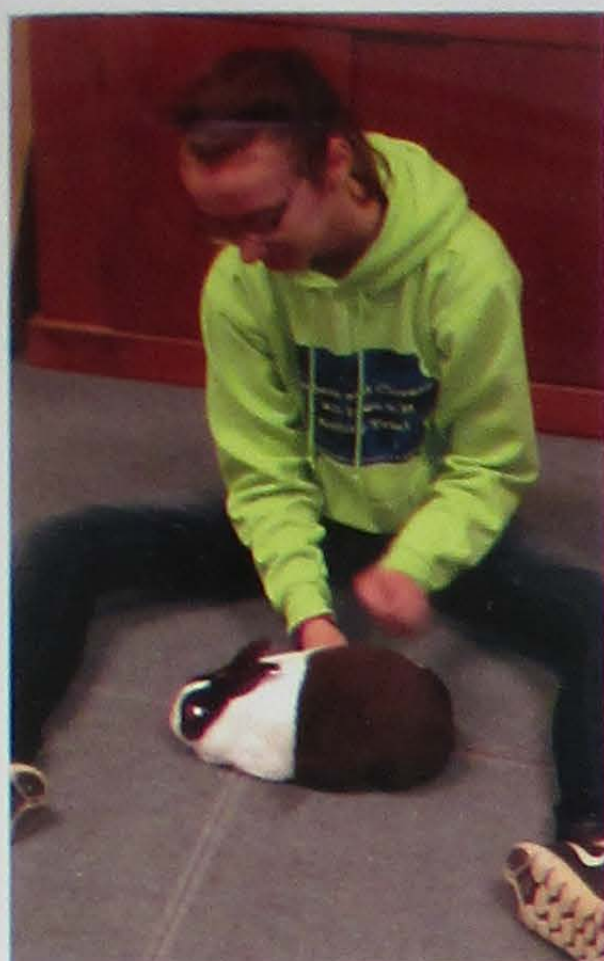

One unique thing about Lacrosse is that, like hockey, it is a club team rather than a school team. Another is that it is co-ed.

"I'm glad Ames got a lacrosse team, because otherwise I'd be playing on the Ankeny Girls' Lacrosse team right now," sophomore Alyssa Strotman said.

GAMES AND GIVING BACK

Week by Week

Government Service Learning Project

Many Ames High seniors used Spring Break as an opportunity to give back to the community. As part of US Government and AP Government and Politics, all seniors must complete 8 hours of volunteer service in order to pass the class and graduate. Senior Braeden Weyhrich (shown above) chose to spend a day at the Story County Animal Shelter in Nevada. Other students elected to volunteer a wide variety of organizations including Food at First, Fellows mentoring, the district speech competition hosted by Ames High, and the Emergency Residence Project.

Winter Wonderland

While many students used their Spring Break to travel somewhere warm, seniors Emily and Jessica Rehmann trekked north to Minnesota. They visited Split Rock and Temperance River State Parks and went skiing at Lutsen.

Team Neutrino

Perhaps the biggest breakout club of the year came in the form of Team Neutrino, the Story County robotics club. Filled with seemingly quiet, unassuming students, this group is fiercely competitive and driven not just to win, but to dominate the tough competition. Between March 23 and 26, the team had its chance as they competed at the world's first FRC Iowa Regional in Cedar Falls, Iowa. Despite a rough qualifying round, the team went on to the quarterfinals and won their first match there before finally being eliminated. Despite this, they feel like they've learned a lot and hope to make a stronger showing at the Minnesota North Star Regional next month.

The Chicago Art Trip made a comeback this week. It hadn't happened for three years, but after a bit of persuading, about 50 art students and three teachers traveled to Chicago for two days. They visited the Field Museum, "The Bean," and the Art Institute of Chicago. There were lots of things that didn't go as planned, such as riding a school bus instead of a charter, the bus driver getting lost, and a student going to the ER, but it was definitely a memorable experience.

Week by Week

The Gatsby Party

Every year, sophomores look forward to being granted admission to the Gatsby Party, orchestrated by the English department. The Gatsby Party is meant to simulate the raucous parties given by Jay Gatsby in the F. Scott Fitzgerald's classic, The Great Gatsby.

Students are encouraged to dress in 1920's clothing of their choosing, wearing shift dresses, feather boas and suspenders. They can then flirt or bribe their way into the speakeasy for refreshments created and served by the Advanced Foods class, gamble fake money at poker tables run by other teachers, or learn how to dance the Charleston in the dance room. On their way out, they can pose with actual Model A cars from the local Model A club.

Local photographer and Ames High alum Dan McClanahan set up shop to treat party goers to a free professional photo shoot with their friends. It's no wonder it is such a popular event!

Quiz Bowl

In Quiz Bowl students answer trivia questions over a variety of topics including sports, history and, science. Students are placed on teams of four or five students and try to answer the questions as quickly as possible to try and maximize the points their team receives. The Quiz Bowl team has gone to several competitions this year including competitions at Waukee and Chariton.

Track

This week, Ames High boys and girls track team traveled to Waukee for the CIC conference meet to compete against the toughest athletes in Iowa. The boys placed second overall and the girls placed third.

The Mouse that Roared

This year's Spring Play made audiences think as much as it made them laugh. Reflecting the cold war world view, it shows the tiny nation of Gran Fenwick invading New York city - in medieval armor, no less - in an attempt to get conquered so the U. S. will rebuild Gran Fenwick's economy. Instead, they capture a nuclear bomb and become the most powerful nation on earth. Oops! The play was well cast and featured a wide range of talent.

State Track

In what can only be described as a magical year, both the Boys' and Girls' tracks teams had top 10 finishes at state, with the Boys placing 9th and the Girls placing 3rd. It was also one marked by incredible personal performances. The winning tradition of track is alive and well at Ames High, and their success just allowed the rest of the state to discover what we've known all along.

Senior Picnic

Ames lacrosse played their last games of the season this week. On Tuesday they played against the West Des Moines Tigers and lost 3-11. On Wednesday they played the Ankeny Hawks and won 9-6. With these last games in mind they stepped onto the field with the mentality of playing their best, like they had been all season.

MAY 23 - MAY 29

On Tuesday, Ames High Softball prepared for their first game of the season against the Boone Toreadors. JV won their game 2-1, but Varsity lost theirs 1-2. Even though Varsity lost their game they played their solid ball and feel like they are a step ahead of where they were last year.

Commencement

The Class of 2016 closed out their high school careers on Sunday in Hilton Coliseum for the annual commencement ceremony. Principal Spence Evans likened students' high school careers to a road trip, reminding them that the journey is more important than the destination. The choir performed their take on "Bridge Over Troubled Waters," bringing a moment of beauty to an otherwise chaotic day. The ceremony was great, but when the confetti canon blasted, the graduates knew it was finally real.

BRAEDEN WEYHRICH

"My wish, for you, is that this life becomes all that you want it to,
Your dreams stay big,
your worries stay small,
You never need to carry more than you can hold..."

- "My Wish" by Rascal Flatts

Braeden, we are so proud of all you have accomplished and more importantly, the beautiful person you are.
You have worked hard, made sacrifices, used great judgment, and are so deserving of all that has come your way.
Always stay true to your beliefs and know
we are here to cheer you on, help you up, and support all that you do.

With all our love, Dad, Mom, Makenzie,
